

Yellowheaded cockchafer

In high risk paddocks, consider cultivation and soil compaction at sowing

There are numerous species and some have a 2-year life cycle

There are few chemical control options for this pest. Insecticide seed dressings may offer some protection to emerging seedlings

Critical monitoring period for this pest

There are limited options for control once a crop is sown. Early monitoring is key